Another Competition ...

Recently the New ESU of Hungary was approached by BBC Prime to assist with a competition in November for schools. The event will be sponsored and supported by the Ministry of Education and the British Council and will involve teams of students rather than individuals.

As a result of the very successful National Public Speaking Competition they would like to base their ideas on the organisation we set up. We hope that several other sponsors will be involved locally as there will be local finals and a national final as in our March/April event.

We had planned to run a national event in the autumn and this fits very well with our plans. Any offers of assistance will be very welcome, particularly in organising the local competitions. Further information will be available in June.

A good discussion

We have to express our thanks to Jim McGrath, Director of the British Council and Hartai Gabriella for giving up their evening to explain the role of the organisation and its history. As always, members showed a keen interest either in listening or in asking questions.

The British Council is able to offer an excellent library service, though, as Mr. McGrath said, this aspect of the Council is being phased out in favour of internet based services. At the moment they run in parallel and members of the ESU are advised to enrol – at little or no cost – and take advantage of this service. Of special
